Human Terrain Mapping and Behavior pattern Recognition (HTMBPR) is a science-based predictive analysis and proactive decision-making model. It's based upon lessons learned from the development of Human Behavior Pattern Recognition programs for the Department of Defense. HTMBPR focuses on developing advanced critical thinking by understanding human behavior patterns. This training offers a framework for Law Enforcement Officers to observe, articulate, document and defend decisions they make in the course of performing their duties.

Legal Trends for Supervisors and Law Enforcement Officers – “Why Are We Getting Sued”

Law enforcement officers must have a working knowledge of developing laws relating to police liability and discipline. Officers must be aware that they may be held account-able for decisions made by a court having jurisdiction over them. It is the developing law that guides police training, operations, individual conduct and operations. A failure to recognize the importance of this area of the law can lead to serious monetary consequences for individual police officers, supervisors, police executives and police agencies. This training is structured to assist officers and agencies in assessing their level of legal risk-exposure by examining court decisions that have interpreted acceptable standards of conduct by officers. Instructor Jack Ryan, Legal and Liability Risk Management Institute.
